EARLY SETTLEMENT.

The settlement of the town for many years after its grant by the Province progressed but slowly. We are told that the first settler was Paul Morrill, who came here about 1756. He received 500 acres of land in the southwest part of the town and established himself thereon. This tract has always been known as "Morrill's Grant." He cleared up two farms and built houses upon them; one was what is now known as the John F. French place and the other as "Horse Corner," where he spent the remainder of his days.

Several of his sons settled in town. One son, John, was born about the time of his father's settlement here and was granted fifty acres by the proprietors as the first white child born in town.

The real start toward settlement of the town was made about 1770 when John Cram was granted land and waterpower on the Suncook river in what is now Pittsfield. He settled there and soon after many others followed and established themselves here. Among the number were Dows, Sanborns, Drakes, Hilliards, Browns, Hooks, Lakes, Davises and many other young men.

Colonel Simeon Hilliard settled on Brown's Hill. Jonathan Leavitt, Esq. settled here on a tract of land sutuated on both sides of the Canterbury road which place later became a part of the property of his grandson, Hazen K. Leavitt. Another settler was Capt. John Langmaid. He was soon followed by David Brown, Thomas Lake, Joseph Dow, Joshua and Jeremiah Lane, Dyer Hook, Peter Hook, and Ebenezer Lane.

In 1797, John Hilliard, Jos. Dow, Joshua Lane, Jacob Sanborn, John Bickford, Thomas Lake, Timothy Prescott, Asa Lane, Daniel Tilton, James Drake, Robert Tebbetts, Jona. Perkins, Joshua Berry, Abram Greene, John Cram, William Chase, Enoch Butler and Joseph Sanborn represented to Abram True that they were proprietors, owners and grantees of more than one sixteenth of the township and requested him to call a meeting for the election of proprietor's officers at the house of Lieut. John Hilliard. Very little was accomplished at this meeting and the many more that followed during the next three or four years' time. Before very long the original proprietors' shares of land had nearly all been sold to pay taxes.

We find, however, that on March 18,1773 the "Original Settlers" presented a petition to John McClary to call a meeting of the legal voters for the election of town officers.

This call was issued in due form and town organization followed.

MILITARY ACCOUNT.

The Town of Chichester has a record in military affairs that may well excite the pride of her citizens. The Revolution, the War of 1812 and the Rebellion all brought forth representatives of the bold strong manhood of the town and they did valiant service for the flag. No account would be complete without their names.

SOLDIERS OF THE REVOLUTION.

Josiah Barton, Ephraim Garvin, Jona. Locke, John Bickford, Nathl. Martin, James Ahern, Benj. Brown, Benj. B. Berry, Jacob Abbott, Ephraim Connor, Daniel Paige, Neil Cate, Jos. Morrill, Daniel Seavey, Jos. Brown, Jos. Dow, Jos. Goss, Jeremiah Abbott, Eliphalet Connor, Simeon Lovering, Dudly Swain, Joshua Smith, Richard Smith, John Chase, John Maxfield.

An interesting item of Revolutionary days has come to our notice as follows: "They (the citizens of the town) also voted to raise all the men wanted from this town for the army during the year, and passed the following very singular vote, which not only shows the ingenuity of the people, but shows to what extremity poverty and zeal in a just cause had driven them:

"Voted to go to raising young stock, and that each and every citizen of the town who enlisted for the term of three years, or during the war, and actually went into the service, should receive, at the expiration of his term of service, twenty three year-old heifers, and chose Jeremiah Sanborn, Captain Jabez Haskell and Joshua Berry a committee to hire soldiers, and voted to pay this committee forty dollars per day for time spent in furnishing the men, and thirty dollars per day for use of horse."

WAR OF 1812.

The following men enlisted in the United States service in the War of 1812:

Joseph Dearborn, Isaac Stanyan, Samuel Drake, Theophelus Mason, Christopher Page, Jona. Maxfield, Benj. W.

French, David P. Shaw, Edw. Edmunds, David M. Carpenter, Mathew Sanborn.

CIVIL WAR SOLDIERS.

The following were the men who were mustered into the United States service during the war of the Rebellion:

George S. Sanders, Elbridge G. Locke, Jas McGuire, Albert Hook, Wm. H. Jackson, Jno. P. Haines, Hiram E. Locke, William Spiller, Jos. C. Munsey, Frederick Brown, William Buzzell, Chellis E. Hall, Chas. H. Edmunds, Jos. C. Perry, Samuel M. Perry, Ira B. Perry, Henry M. Sanborn, Jas. Stanyan, Chas. H. Towle, Cyrus Sanborn, James H. Haines, Thos. Haines, Peter Mehier, Thos. Ames, Wm. Stanley, Hugh Burns, Alfred Langmaid, Chas. Robey, Chas. H. Staniels, Jno. A. West, Hiram Hook, Levi Hook, James M. Meserve, Joseph Cilley, Warren Langmaid, Jonathan H. Leavitt, William Sanborn, Hiram Stanyan, Edw. West, Geo. H. Haines, Herbert T. Sanborn, Chas. L. Brown, Chas. H. Greene, Alonzo P. Hall, James P. Hook, Geo. P. Haines, Chas. H. Johnson, James Bachelder, Geo. A. Lear, Sewell B. Bailey, John M. Haines, Jas. J. Locke, Jos. M. Walker, True Sanborn, Jr., (enlisted Sept. 20, 1861, Fourth Reg., 2d Lieut., promoted 1st Lieut., June 12, 1862; promoted Capt., Nov. 9, 1864), Jona. D. Leavitt.

The following men were hired by the selectmen to fill quotas of the town under drafts, and substitutes for drafted and enrolled men:

Wm. Walker, Geo. H. Pearson, Jno. Ames, Thos. Eagan, John Friar, Edward Morris, Jos. Miller, Wm. Robertson, James Noble, Wm. R. Fleming, Chas. Hogan, Jno. Smith, Jas. Johnson, Jno. Thomas, Elbridge L. Swain, Edward Anster, Jos. O. Perkins, Chas. Marston, Wm. Stearns, Edgar L. Carr, Geo. Johnston, Lewis Woodbury, Jno. Wilson, Orrin H. Weeks, William Sinclare, Geo. W. Dwinnel, Patrick R. Garitis, Jos. Murry, Minor Smith, Peter White, Andrew J. Gilman, James Wilson, Martin Johnson, James Smith, Richard Rodgers, Chas. Anderson, Jno. Rodgers, Thos. Williams, Nathan Munsey. George W. Fitch, Francis Dolan, Wm. D. Locke, Wm. Cook, John Cate, Jno. Ames, Jno. F. Stanyan.

CHURCH ACCOUNT.

CONGREGATIONALISTS.

From all that we can learn little was done toward religious worship in this town till after the Revolution. From the end of the war till 1791 even, no active and effective steps were taken toward this end. During that year Rev. J. Carpenter came here from Vermont and preached a part of the time, the town appropriating money for his services. This same year it was decided to erect a house of worship and Abram True, Capt. James Marden, and Jeremiah Sanborn were chosen a committee to attend to the work. The church was completed some time in the next three years. Mr. Carpenter was chosen for the regular pastor and continued to act till 1826, when he was dismissed and the contract made for his establishment was declared ended. In December of that year a new society was formed and designated The Union Congregational Society of Chichester, in the County of Merrimack. Supplies filled the pulpit till 1832 when Rev. Rufus A. Putnam was settled. He remained pastor for twelve years. A new church was built in 1838. Rev. E. Dow and Chas. Willey preached from 1843 to 1845. Then Mr. Willey was settled, remaining till 1850. Rev. Thos. Kidder preached till 1853, when Rev. Silas Blanchard began his pastorate of four years. Other pastors have been Revs. Joshua Gay, 1858; Mark Gould, 1872; Geo. A. Foss, 1876; John F. Aiken, 1880; H. W. L. Thurston, 1884.

FREE BAPTISTS.

This society in Chichester was organized by Elders Winthrop Young, Samuel Dyer, Ebenezer Knowlton, and Arthur Caverno, at the house of Benjamin Kaime, May 27, 1825. The following members were included: Benj. Kaime, Ebenezer Fellows, Stephen Robey, John Fellows, Samuel B. Miller, Dearborn Mason, Levi Staniels, Sarah Fellows, Mary Miller, Sally Kaime, Rhoda Page, and Mary Mason. A church was built in 1826 by active effort on the part of the members and through private subscription. In 1827, Rev. William Swain became the regular pastor and remained for six years. Other pastors were Rev. Silas Bean, 1837-40; Elders Garland, McCutchins, Knowles, Holmes, Quimby, Brown, Mack, Harvey and others during the next forty years.

In 1883 the old church having become so dilapidated that it was deemed wise to repair it and a very thorough overhauling of the structure was had.

METHODISTS.

This church seems to have taken its start from the labors of Rev. John Lord, who preached in various places here in 1819. In 1829 active measures were taken to install services and Rev. E. Stickney preached half the time. The members of the class were John Mason, leader, Hannah Winslow, Nancy Bachelder, John Morrill, Betsey Seavy, Hannah Drake, Josiah Knowles, Deborah Marston, Amos Barton and Mehitable Barton. In 1830, Rev. Orland Hinds came here and started a revival with the result that some sixty members were added to the church. The church building was dedicated in 1833. Other pastors have been as follows: Rev. R. S. Locke, 1833-34; Wm. S. Kidder, 1835-36; Warren Wilber, 1836-37; Arnold Adams, 1837-39; B. D. Brewster, 1839-40; M. A. Howe, 1840-41; R. Tilton, 1841-42; Lewis Howard, 1842-43; J. G. Gale, 1843-44; A. H. Worthing, 1844-45; C. F. Bailey, 1845-46; F. A. Hewes, 1846-48; A. Folsom, 1848-49; A. Heath, 1849-50; G. W. T. Rogers, 1850-52; Jas. Adams, 1852-54; E. Wilkins, 1854-55; John Gould, 1855-57; A. Kidder, 1857-58; J. Fawcett, 1858-60; Wm. D. Cass, 1860-62; M. T. Cilley, 1862-64; C. H. Smith, 1864-66; S. F. Lougee, 1866-68; H. H. Hartwell, 1868-69; Geo. Beebe, 1869-72; Samuel Bedle, 1872-74; L. Draper, 1874-75; A. R. Lunt, 1876-78; A. A. Caswell, 1878-81; S. Holman, 1881-82; A. Twichel, 1882-83; J. W. Bean, 1883-85.

ADVENTS.

At one time in this town there was considerable interest in the doctrines of this sect. There is no very definite information as to the time the sect appeared but the meetings were held in schoolhouses till 1864 when Eneas Ordway agitated the idea of erecting a chapel for the use of the supporters of the creed. The building was dedicated in that year and we are told that Mr. Ordway himself bore a considerable part of the expense, although several others responded liberally. The vestibule of the building contained this very singular notice: "All seats free, and no politics or slavery to be preached in this house."

Mr. Ordway died in 1884 and the chapel was sold by his administrator to George H. Haines.

History of Canterbury

The town of Canterbury, N. H., situated in the eastern part of the County of Merrimack, was granted in conjunction with Louden and Northfield to Richard Waldron and associates, May 20, 1727. The inhabitants received town privileges by legislative act, March 19, 1741; additional area was granted on the southwest side, June 13, 1765; but on January 23, 1773, Louden was set off and June 19, 1780, the northwesterly part was set off as Northfield in Rockingham County. Still again changes were made by the annexation of a small portion of Concord, June 2, 1784, and another to Louden, January 7, 1853.

INDIAN INCURSIONS.

Like most other towns in this section Canterbury suffered in the early days from Indian depredations. The first recorded of these occurred in 1757 when a lad, Moses Jackson and Dorset, a colored man, were captured at the home of Thomas Clough. The captives were taken to Canada in spite of the fiercest efforts of the settlers to rescue them. Four years later Jackman was released and returned. Dorset was released for a sum of money paid by Mr. Clough, but on the journey home he lost both feet. He was however comfortably supported by Mr. Clough for the remainder of his life.

Mrs. Clough narrowly escaped capture at the same time the above-mentioned two were taken. She ventured from the garrison-house to her own cabin to attend to some household duties and discovered traces of the Indians shortly after their departure. She fled to the fort, screaming as she ran, and gave the alarm.

Another time, two settlers, Messrs. Shepherd and Blanchard, were surprised by seven Indians only a few paces from the garrison house and fired upon. The settlers returned the fire at the same time. Shepherd escaped but Blanchard was mortally wounded. During the hostilities, this garison-house was the headquarters for a company of volunteers under the command of Capt. Jeremiah Clough which for some time searched the forests for the enemy beyond the line of the settlements.

However the great arbitrator between the nations the world over—trade—was present even in this backwoods hamlet. There was a trading post established here in the early days and the following voted concerning it by the General Court in 1743:

"In the House of Representatives X^r the 22^d, 1743.

"Voted that Mr Jotham Odiorn J^r & Mr Hunking Wentworth be a committee to Purchase thirty pounds worth of Goods to Send up to Canterbury for a Supply Trade with the Indians which Shall be laid out in the following Manner viz:

"For Rum	£ 3	15
for Blankets	10	0
for Cloth Suitable for Indian Stockings.	3	15
for Linen for Shirts	5	0
for Powder Shot Bullets & Flints	5	0
Knives Pipes and Tobacko	2	10

The Act contained a further article providing for the manner in which exchanges should be made, what produce, furs and other articles should be received in exchange with the Indians, who should have the goods in charge, and what should be the final disposal of them.

EARLY SETTLEMENT.

After the granting of the town in 1727 settlements were made but on account of the exposed condition of the frontier they were but few. Indians frequently assumed hostile attitudes and as we have previously noted on two occasions became warlike; at all times they were a dreaded menace. In the face of this danger only the most daring and hardy of the pioneers risked a settlement. A few were courageous or reckless enough to attempt the establishment of a home here soon after the granting of the town. Among those who were here early are the following: Jeremiah Clough, who came here and made a settlement in 1727. Mr. Clough built the old Garrison

House soon after a beginning had been made toward a settlement. His family have always been prominent in the history of this town, both in civil and military affairs, he commanding the town's first military company, his son Jeremiah being Captain of the company that served with the Continental Army in the Boston campaigns in the Revolutionary War. His great-grandson, David M. Clough, widely known as the "Corn King" from his extensive farming operations was prominent in the politics of the county and state for many years, being at different times selectman of his town, member of the state legislature, member of the Governor's Council and a member of the National Convention that nominated John P. Hale for President.

James Scales was another early settler but did not arrive here so soon by several years as Mr. Clough. He was the first regular minister of the gospel to locate here, coming from Concord in 1742. He was a graduate of Harvard College in the class of 1733. The town voted him 20 pounds for ministerial services the year he located here. After some years he removed to Hopkinton. He was town clerk of Canterbury for several years and appears to have taken much interest in the affairs of the newly-formed town.

Thomas and Ephraim Clough, other members of that well-known family, were here at an early date and have left behind them a long line of descendants who have had a creditable part in shaping the fortunes of the town their fathers carved from the natural state.

Samuel Shepard was also here soon after the Cloughs. We understand that it was his son, James, who was Captain of the second company of the militia in the Revolutionary service among other places at Bennington and Saratoga.

William Glines was another of the pioneers who has left many descendants who have been prominent in the service of the town. The name of Glines appears very frequently especially in the military records of the early days, James Glines being rated a Lieutenant in the town militia.

Ezekiel Morril came from South Hampton about 1750. He was a deacon in the Congregational Church and was the father of fifteen children. His second child, David, attained considerable prominence, being many times a town official and member of both houses of the state legislature.

Richard Blanchard, we are led to believe, was here after the first settlements and if we have been correctly informed it was he who lost his life at the hands of the Indians near the garrison house when he and Shepherd were attacked by the redskins. The records show several of this name to have been in the service of the Continental Army, Edward Blanchard being rated a Captain.

Thomas Young, James Gibson, Samuel Ames, Joseph Symonds, John Moor, Josiah Miles and Samuel Sias are others who were early upon the scenes of building the town of Canterbury from the rugged wooded hills. All honor to these sturdy pioneers, born of a race of heroes, reared in an air of freedom, breathing the atmosphere of self reliance and independence and fated to imprint their traits and characters deep upon the thought and action of succeeding generations. They have gone to their reward and it is only fragments we know today of the busy, toilsome lives they led, but none can fail to render homage to the high order of courage and fortitude, patriotism and religious zeal they so strongly exemplified.

MUNICIPAL ACCOUNT.

The town of Canterbury was incorporated March 19, 1741. Two years later the town had completed the building for the combined use of town house and church. The story of this structure is one of interest and shows many sides of the natures of the people of those days,—some incidents of pleasant remembrance and others not of that kind. Many controversies arose and were settled here in this building both on municipal affairs and ecclesiastical matters. They show these people to have been independent of thought, tenacious in their views and withal reverent far beyond the present and subsequent generations.

LOUDEN SET OFF.

In January, 1773, the citizens of Canterbury, living in the southeasterly part of the town petitioned to be set off as a separate parish and the selectmen in accordance with a previous vote of the town, indorsed that petition and forwarded the same to the Governor and the General Assembly for dismemberment.

The following are the names of the petitioners:

John Danforth, Daniel Bachelder, Ezekiel Morrill, Jr., Marston Morrill, Elephalet Rollins, Nath'l Bachelder, Samuel Danforth, Henry Moulton, Jethro Bachelder, Samuel Morrill.

Isaac Morrill, Moses Ardua, Moses Ardua, Jr., George Barnes, Dudley Swazey, Amasa Dow, Samuel Dow, Samuel Lock, Joseph McGoon, Jacob Towle, Enoch French, Solomon Sias, Benjamin Sias, William Davis, William Boynton, Charles Sias, John Glines, Jethro Bachelder, Jr., John Sanborn, Philip Judkins, Samuel Sargent, Jonah Rines, Samuel Carter, Jonathan Smith, John Smith, Samuel French, Gershom Mathes, Stephen Perkins, Nathan Bachelder, Jonathan Clough, Joseph Tilton, John Drew, Abel French, Thomas Drake, Thomas Swett.

The selectmen were John Hoyt, William Ellison, Jonathan Clough and the date they approve the petition of the above subscribers was January 12, 1773. The Assembly passed the act of incorporation for the town of Loudon, January 23, 1773.

NORTHFIELD INCORPORATED.

The following citizens of Canterbury living in the Northwest part of the town petitioned in March, 1779, for division into a separate parish:

William Kenistone, James Blanchard, William Williams, Jeremiah McDaniel, Bona. Blanchard, Thomas. Clough, Jr., Joseph Carr, Richard Blanchard, Simon Sanborn, Thos. Gilman, Charles Glidden, John Dearborn, Joseph Levitt, Shubal Dearborn, Jr., William Forrest, Shubal Dearborn, Jacob Morrill, Aaron Stevens, Jr., Samuel Miles, John Forrest, Nathaniel Whitcher, Thos. MILITARY MATTERS.

The town of Canterbury justly boasts a splendid record in the country's military service. Her hardy sons were prompt in their response to the calls of the Colonial cause in Revolutionary days. Thirty-one citizens of this town saw service in the first two years of the war. Her officers included the following: Capt. Jeremiah Clough, Capt. James Shepherd, Lieut. Joseph Soper, Lieut. Laban Morrill, and Dr. Josiah Chase. Capt. Clough had most of Canterbury's contingent under his command and served first in the vicinity of Boston. Capt. Shepherd and his following were in the battles of Bennington and Saratoga.

The total enlistment from this town for the war was about 70, of whom one was killed and six died.

The following is the roster of Capt. Clough's company, dated August 1, 1775:

Jeremiah Clough, Capt.; Aaron Sanborn, Lieut.; Thos. The War of the Rebellion brought out again the fullest effort on the part of the citizens of Canterbury for the service of the Union. More than 140 of her able-bodied men, the flower of her population, to serve the flag in the restoration of unity of the states and the record these men made is proud heritage of their descendants and of the town they honored. To the time of going to press we have been unable to get any accurate list of the names of the enlisted.

SCHOOLS.

This town in common with so many of the towns of the early days made some effort to maintain schools, deeming them a necessity to the welfare of the community, but until 1781, all schools were kept in private houses. That year the first school-house was built. In 1793 the town was divided into school districts, but the fact that the town made provision so late did not prove that education was neglected. Many of the schools maintained in private houses were of excellent efficiency and did much to keep the town's young on the road of progress and intellectual improvement.

Between 1793 and 1833 fifteen persons from these schools begun by the town in 1781 had graduated from college. Their names follow:

William Rolf, Dartmouth, 1799; Ebenezer Greenough, Harvard, 1803; Jona. Kittredge, Dartmouth, 1813; Samuel Haines, Dartmouth, 1803; Chas. G. Haines, Middlebury, 1816; David Ames, Dartmouth, 1817; Asa E. Foster, 1822; Abiel Foster, Dartmouth, 1823; Henry Clough, Dartmouth, 1823; Cyrus Parker, Dartmouth, 1824; Alfred Kittredge, Dartmouth, 1827; Josiah Emery, Schenectady, 1828; Adam Shepherd, Middlebury, 1826; Galen Foster, Amherst, 1831; William P. Haines, Dartmouth, 1831.

HISTORY OF KEZER SEMINARY.

(By Sherman E. Phillips.)

John Kezer, the founder of the Seminary, was born in the upper part of this state. He moved to Canterbury when he was a young man. After his marriage to Susannah Hodgdon, the daughter of Miles Hodgdon, he made his home on the Hodgdon farm until his death.

Mr. Kezer had a very limited education and for that reason he desired that his property should be used for education after his death. He died in 1853. His will provided that the income from his preperty should go to his wife and daughter and after their death it should be used to found a school.

Jeremiah Clough, Edward Osgood, George W. Peverly, James H. Herrick, David M. Clough, Henry L. Clough, and Charles C. Clough were named by the will as trustees for the school. Henry L. Clough is the only one of the seven living at the present time. After the death of the last of the Kezer family in 1879 the property came into the hands of the trustees.

There were no provisions in the will for the building of a schoolhouse, and as only the income of the property could be used the trustees voted to dispose of the real estate and put the money at interest until sufficient interest had accumulated to build a building. The building was to be located in Mr. Kezer's home district, No. 4, and to be named either Kezer Maple Grove Institute or Kezer Seminary. The ground consists of one acre of land well covered with maple trees. The building, which was commenced in 1888 is pleasantly situated among the maples. It is a wooden structure of two stories.

The school was opened in September, 1889. Its nearness to schools in neighboring towns which were more favorably located has had a tendency to draw the students away from it. During the past two years it has had only the town scholars.

The school opened with Willard E. Conant as principal.

Three years later in 1892, H. W. Small became the principal. He served two years and one term. The two remaining terms of that year were taught by F. I. Sherman. I. H. Storer was connected with the school two years, commencing in 1895. Edna M. Hunt became the teacher in 1897. She taught the school three years. Mrs. Clara Currier taught from 1900 to the spring of 1903. Gertrude E. Phillips became the teacher in the spring of 1903 and taught until the summer of 1906. Sherman E. Phillips taught the year of 1906-07. Alice M. Brown taught the fall and winter terms of 1907. Blanch P. Morgan became the teacher in the spring of 1908 and has taught the past three terms.

CHURCHES.

The Congregational Church was the first in town. Like so many in the early days it was supported by the town, the first appropriation being made in 1735. In 1742, the proprietors were taxed for its support three shillings and nine pence each.

The meeting house, which was by the way the old town house, of which we have more to say in another chapter, was erected about 1743. It continued to be used jointly as church and town house till 1785. This was not however the first house of worship for on the hill near the John P. Kimball place, was built in 1731 a rude log building which served for some years as a place of worship. There appears to have been a new house constructed about 1827.

List of pastors: Rev. James Scales, 1743; Rev. Robert Cutler was called in 1756, but never settled; Rev. Timothy Walker, 1756; Abiel Foster, 1760; Rev. William Patrick, 1773; Rev. Howard Moody, 1843; Rev. Josiah Arms served as pastor from 1863-65; Rev. Mr. Moody returned and served from 1864 and acted till 1869; Rev. James Doldt, 1870, 1886; Rev. L. C. Kimball, 1887-89; Rev. Henry P. Page, 1889-91; Rev. I. W. Coombs, 1891-95; Rev. A. E. Hall, 1895-98; Rev. Jos. Hammond, 1898, 1901; Rev. Wm. Ganley, 1902-04; Rev. H. E. Lochlin, 1904-05; Rev. A. G. Gates, 1906-07; Rev. T. B. Windross, 1908-09.

The First Free Baptist Church of Canterbury at one time belonged to the Baptist denomination. In the year 1779 the church protested against the belief of election as taught by Calvin. In 1793 under the labors of Benjamin Randall there were new members added to the church. Winthrop Young, the first Free Baptist pastor of the church was ordained and began his labors in 1796. The length of his pastorate was about thirty-five years. In 1829, John Harriman was elected his assistant. Jeremiah Clough was ordained and became the pastor of the church in 1838. He was the pastor thirty years. From that time until his death in 1879 he supplied the church whenever there was a vacancy. These two men labored about sixty-five years with little, if any, compensation. G. W. Richardson followed with a three years' pastorate. A. D. Smith was the pastor from Jan. 1, 1874 until his death in March of 1886. During the next few years the church was supplied by F. L. Wiley, W. J. Malvern and G. T. Griffin. The last named was the pastor for two years from Feb. 1898. During the next year the church was supplied by L. E. Hall. John Vance became the pastor Feb., 1901 and closed his labors in March, 1906. The present pastor, D. M. Phillips began his labors Oct. 1, 1906.

THE SHAKERS.

Hurd's History of Merrimack and Belknap Counties contains the following item concerning this sect: "In 1774 Ann Lee, the founder of a religious denomination called Shakers, came to this country from England, and a branch of the denomination was established in this town in 1792. Their first minister was Elder Job Bishop, who occupied the position many years. They are a frugal, industrious and temperate people, intelligent and successful tillers of the soil and breeders of stock."

The present elder is Areteus Bruce.

EARLY SETTLEMENT.

It is impossible to say just when the first settlements in this town were made. However it is pretty well established that there were several families here before the incorporation.

Among the earlier settlers were the following: Charles McCoy from Londonderry; William Blazo, a Frenchman; Andrew McClary, from Londonderry in Ireland, and a family by the name of Blake. Andrew McClary had two sons, Andrew and John, both of whom settled in Epsom. Andrew became one of the leading spirits of the new town. He was particularly prominent in municipal affairs and in the military activities of the new town. It was he as Major, under the famous John Stark, who fell in the first battle with the Britsh about Boston at the outbreak of the Revolution in 1775, and his dust now lies at Medford. Never was there a braver man and he was recognized as the handsomest man in the New Hampshire forces.

McCoy built a house on the north side of what is known as Sanborn's Hill, and thence extended his farm by spotting trees round upon the mountain which will probably always bear his name. His daughter was the first white child born in town, and the proprietors presented her with a tract of land. She became Mrs. Wood and lived to a ripe old age.

Samuel Blake was commonly known as Sergeant Blake. He came into town among the earliest settlers when but fifteen years old. He began a settlement near the John Chesley farm. He purchased more than one hundred acres of land near the center of the town for ten shillings and turned in his jack-knife for one shilling of that sum.

The story of these pioneers is one of interest. It arouses in our hearts feelings of both regret and admiration. A previous writer has said that, great as were the deeds and abilities of the famous McClary family no proper memorial of their services nor marks of their honorable careers have been left behind. And at the time he wrote, (1885) no lineal male descendant was living in town to inherit the rich legacy of honor and integrity left by this noble race of patriots. The name of only one of the family appears in the printed histories of the town.

The McGaffeys, Knoxs, Dickeys, Wallaces and others were here at an early date and did their part heroically to redeem the town from the wilderness, wild animals and what was worse, at times, the ferocity and treachery of the red skins.

INCURSIONS OF THE INDIANS.

In the early days of the town the inhabitants were kept in a state of almost continual alarm by the incursions of the Indians. For a considerable time after this settlement was commenced only the men ventured to remain in the place during the summer season, and then they must keep their arms by them while they labored on their lands. During the winter there was much less danger from the Indians. Even long after the men had removed their families into the place, so feeble was their defense against the attacks of their savage neighbors, that, whenever any immediate danger was apprehended, they either sent their families away or fled with them to the garrison at Nottingham. At length a house was erected by Captain Andrew McClary within the limits of the town, and near the present residence of Mr. Joseph Lawrence, which was made proof against the assaults of the Indians, being surrounded by a high, wooden wall, entered by a heavy, well-secured gate. Thither the inhabitants fled at night, whenever danger was apprehended.

"Captivity of Mrs. McCoy.—The Indians were first attracted to the new settlements in the town by discovering McCoy at Suncook (now Pembroke). This, as nearly as can be ascertained, was in the year 1747. Reports were spread of the depredations of the Indians in various places, and McCoy had heard that they had been seen lurking about the woods at Penacook, (now Concord). He went as far as Pembroke; ascertained that they were in the vicinity; was somewhere discovered by them and followed home. They told his wife, whom they afterwards made a prisoner, that they looked through cracks around the house and saw what they had for supper that night. They, however, did not discover themselves till the second day after. They probably wished to take a little time to learn the strength and preparation of the inhabitants. The next day Mrs. Coy, attended by their two dogs, went down to see if any of the other families had returned from the garrison. She found no one. On her return, as she was passing the block-house, which stood near the present site of the meeting house, the dogs, which had passed around it, came running back growling and very much excited. Their appearance induced her to make the best of her way home. The Indians afterwards told her that they then lay concealed there and saw the dogs when they came round.

"McCoy, being now strongly suspicious that the Indians were actually in town, determined to set off the next day with his family for the garrison at Nottingham. His family now consisted of himself, his wife and son John. The younger children were still at the garrison. They accordingly secured their house as well as they could and all set off next morning—McCoy and his son with their guns, though without ammunition, having fired away what they brought with them in hunting.

"As they were traveling a little distance east of the place where the meeting-house now stands, Mrs. McCoy fell a little in the rear of the others. This circumstance gave the Indians a favorable opportunity for separating her from her husband and son. The Indians—three men and a boy—lay in ambush near the foot of Marden's Hill, not far from the junction of the mountain road with the main road. Here they suffered McCoy and his son to pass, but as his wife was passing them they reached from the bushes and took hold of her, charging her to make no noise, and covering her mouth with their hands, as she cried to her husband for assistance. Her husband, hearing her cries, turned, and was about to come to her relief, but he no sooner began to advance than the Indians, expecting probably that he would fire upon them, began to raise their pieces, which she pushed to one side and motioned to her friends to make their escape, knowing that their guns were not loaded, and that they would doubtless be killed if they approached. They accordingly ran into the woods and made their escape to the garrison. This took place August 21, 1747.

"The Indians then collected together what booty they could obtain, which consisted of an iron trammel, from Mr. George Wallace's, the apples of the only tree which bore in town, which was in the orchard later owned by Mr. David Griffin, and some other trifling articles, and prepared to set off with their prisoner for Canada.

"Before they took their departure they conveyed Mrs. McCoy to a place near the little Suncook River, where they left her in the care of the young Indian, while the three men, whose names were afterwards ascertained to be Plansawa, Sabatis and Christi, went away, and were for some time absent During their absence Mrs. McCoy thought of attempting to make her escape. She saw opportunities when she thought she might dispatch the young Indian with the trammel, which, with other things, was left with them, and thus perhaps avoid some strange and barbarous death or a long and distressing captivity. But, on the other hand, she knew not at what distance the others were. If she attempted to kill her young keeper she might fail. If she effected her purpose in this she might be pursued and overtaken by a cruel and revengeful foe, and then some dreadful death would be her certain portion. On the whole, she thought best to endeavor to prepare her mind to bear what might be no more than a period of savage captivity. Soon, however, the Indians returned and put an end, for the present, to all thoughts of escape. From the direction in which they went and returned, and from their smutty appearance, she suspected what their business had been. She told them 'she guessed they had been burning her house.'' Plansawa, who could speak some broken English, informed her they had.

''They now commenced their long and tedious journey to Canada, in which the poor captive might well expect that great and complicated suffering would be her lot. She did, indeed, find the journey fatiguing, and her fare scant and precarious. But, in her treatment from the Indians, she experienced a very agreeable disappointment. The kindness she received from them was far greater than she had expected from those who were so often distinguished for their cruelties. The apples they had gathered they saved for her, giving her one every day. In this way they lasted her as far on the way as Lake Champlain. They gave her the last as they were crossing the lake in their canoes. This circumstance gave to the tree on which the apples grew the name of 'Isabella's tree,' her name being Isabella. In many ways did they appear desirous of mitigating the distresses of their prisoner while on their tedious journey. When night came on, and they halted to repose themselves in the dark wilderness, Plausawa, the head man, would make a little couch in the leaves a little way from theirs, cover her up with his own blanket, and there she was suffered to sleep undisturbed till morning. When they came to a river which must be forded one of them would carry her over on his back. Nothing like insult or indecency did they ever offer her during the whole time she was with them. They carried her to Canada and sold her as a servant to a French family, whence, at the close of that war, she returned home. But so comfortable was her condition there, and her husband being a man of rather a rough and violent temper, she declared she never should have thought of attempting the journey home were it not for the sake of her children.

"After the capture of Mrs. McCoy the Indians frequently visited the town, but never committed any very great depredations. The greatest damage they ever did to the property of the inhabitants was the spoiling of all the ox-teams in town. At the time referred to there were but four yoke of oxen in the place, viz.: McCoy's, Captain McClary's, George Wallace's and Lieutenant Blake's. It was a time of apprehension from the Indians, and the inhabitants had therefore all fled to the garrison at Nottingham. They left their oxen to graze about the woods, with a bell upon one of them. The Indians found them, shot one out of each yoke, took out their tongues, made a prize of the bell and left them.

"The ferocity and cruelty of the savages were doubtless very much averted by a friendly, conciliating course of conduct in the inhabitants towards them. This was particularly the case in the course pursued by Sergeant Blake. Being himself a curious marksman and an expert hunter—traits of character, in their view, of the highest order—he soon secured their respect; and, by a course of kind treatment, he secured their friendship to such a degree that, though they had opportunities, they would not injure him even in time of war.

"The first he ever saw of them was a company of them making towards his house through the opening from the top of Sanborn's Hill. He fled to the woods and there lay concealed till they had made a thorough search about his house and the inclosures and had gone off. The next time his visitors came he was constrained to become more acquainted with them and to treat them with more attention. As he was busily engaged towards the close of the day in completing a yard for his cow, the declining sun suddenly threw several long, enormous shadows on the ground before him. He had no sooner turned to see the cause than he found himself in the company of a number of stately Indians. Seeing his perturbation, they patted him on the head and told him 'not to be afraid, for they would not hurt him.' They then went with him into his house, and their first business was to search all his bottles to see if he had any 'ocapee'—rum. They then told him they were very hungry, and wanted something to eat. He happened to have a quarter of a bear, which he gave them. They took it and threw it whole upon the fire, and very soon began to cut and eat from it half raw. While they were eating he employed himself in cutting pieces from it and broiling upon a stick for them, which pleased them very much. After their repast they wished for the privilege of lying by his fire through the night, which he granted. The next morning they proposed trying skill with him in firing at a mark. To this he acceded. But in this, finding themselves outdone, they were very much astonished and chagrined; nevertheless they highly commended him for his skill, patting him on the head and telling him,—'if he would go off with them they would make him their big captain.' They used often to call upon him, and his kindness to them they never forgot, even in time of war.

"Plausawa had a peculiar manner of doubling his lip and producing a very shrill, piercing whistle, which might be heard at a great distance. At a time when considerable danger was apprehended from the Indians Blake went off into the woods alone, though considered hazardous, to look for his cow that was missing. As he was passing along by Sinclair's Brook, an unfrequented place, northerly from McCoy's Mountain, a very loud, sharp whistle, which he knew to be Plausawa's suddenly passed through his head like the report of a pistol. The sudden alarm almost raised him from the ground, and, with a very light step, he soon reached home without his cow. In more peacable times Plausawa asked him if he did not remember the time, and laughed very much to think how he ran at the fright, and told him the reason for his whistling. 'Young Indian,' said he, 'put up gun to shoot Englishman; me knock it down and whistle to start you off,'—so lasting is their friendship when treated well. At the close of the wars the Indians built several wigwams near the confluence of Wallace's Brook with the Great Suncook. On a little island in this river, near the place called 'Short Falls,' one of them lived for a considerable time. Plausawa and Sabatis were finally both killed in time of peace by one of the whites, after a drunken quarrel, and buried near a certain brook in Boscawen.''

CHURCH ACCOUNT.

The following items describe the efforts of the newly formed town to promote the advance of the gospel.

May 20, 1742, it was "Voted that there shall be thirty pounds money Raised by the Proprietors and inhabitants for the highering of a minister, that the Gospel may be promoted in the aforesd. town of Epsom."

June 8, 1743, "A vote was past by the Proprietors and Inhabitants of Epsom to Raise forty Pounds for the support of a minister, that the Gospel might be promoted among us."

May 2, 1750, it was "Voted there should be money Raised for the support of the Gospel Fifty Pounds, old Tennor."

April 23, 1760, it was "Voted one hundred pounds, old tenor, in money be raised to hire minister or defray charges."

June 25, 1761, a meeting was held at which the following action was taken concerning religious matters: John Tucke was chosen minister. He was voted a settlement of one hundred acres of land, "thirty pounds starling" as a salary for the first two years, with an additional five pounds for the following two years, thirty cords of wood should be cut and hauled to his house each year. 600 pounds, old tenor, was also voted to build a house for the minister, to be paid in labor if Mr. Tucke should accept the call.

Mr. Tucke accepted the call by letter under the date of August 17, 1761.

On April 19, 1764, the town voted to build a meeting house fifty by forty feet and chose the following committee: Isaac Libby, sen., Thomas Blake, John McClary, George Wallace and Nathan Marden.

This church was occupied by the Congregationalists till 1820, when other societies claimed the right to hold meetings there also.

From this time on for several years there was controversy between the Congregationalists and other denominations. In 1845, the Congregationalists erected a new church at what was locally known as "Slab City." The old meeting house was sold and moved to Concord.

Pastors: John Tucke, 1761-74; Benj. Thurston to 1784; Ebenezer Haseltine, 1784-1813; Jona Curtis, 1814-25; A. D. Smith, 1826; A. Burbank, 1827; John M. Putnam, 1829-1831; Abel Manning and Francis R. Smith till about 1836 or 1837; Winthrop Fifield, 1837-46; Rufus A. Putnam, 1846-52; H. B. Angier and C. C. Durgin, supplies for two years; R. A. Putnam and E. H. Blanchard, supplies for a year each in the order named; Chas. Willey, 1856-59; A. B. Peffers till 1866; George Smith till 1869; Chas. Peabody till 1872; E. C. Cogswell, 1876-1881; L. G. Chase, supply during summer of 1882.

FREE WILL BAPTIST.

This church was organized in June, 1824, by Revs. E. Knowlton and Arthur Coverno, with eight members as follows: Rev. A. Coverno, Nathan Bickford, Daniel Philbrick, Ephraim Locke, Lucretia Tarlton, Mary Marden, Elizabeth Currier, and Sally Osgood. Under Mr. Coverno's charge the society increased that season to fifty members. The society continued to grow and prosper. Two churches have been built, one in 1833 and the other in 1861. A comfortable parsonage was provided.

Pastors in order of service: A. Coverno, James McCutcheon, B. Manson, B. Van Dame, G. P. Ramsey, K. R. Davis, Tobias Foss, M. A. Quimby, Horace Webber, E. Knowles, J. H.

Brown, C. E. Haskell, Uriah Chase, Joel Baker, N. A. Avery, M. A. Quimby.

CHRISTIAN SOCIETY.

This church was founded by Edwin T. Philbrick, a blacksmith, in 1859. He was its first pastor. The most of the members of this new church came from Epsom but had been attending services in Allenstown. It was decided to build a new church in Epsom and the summer of 1861 saw the structure completed and the new society firmly established. After several years Mr. Philbrick was succeeded by Rev. J. P. Stinchfield, a Methodist minister for one year from 1869. Other supplies were: Benjamin Dickson, M. M. Cleverly, Geo. D. Garland, James Phillips, E. C. Cogswell. Since the 80's there has been but little activity in this society.

ADVENT CHURCH.

The Advent Church at Short Falls was organized August 18, 1894. Clarence E. Kendall was chosen elder and continued as such till his death in 1903. Since that time no regular elder has been installed, though William Brown has been active in the work of the society.

Pastors of Free Baptist Church, Gossville, since 1885: Newel A. Avery, settled —— to April, 1885; Moses A. Quimby, April, 1885-April, 1887; Edwin B. Stiles, July, 1887-April, 1888; J. B. Merrill, April, 1888-April, 1891; J. W. Scribner, April, 1891-June, 1901; E. B. Tetley, June, 1901-Dec., 1903; F. P. Wormwood, Feb., 1904-April, 1907; Ozro Roys, May, 1907.

History of Loudon

CHARTER OF THE TOWN BY THE KING.

"George, by the Grace of God, of Great Britain, France and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith:—

"To all the people to whom these presents shall come, Greeting.

"Know ye, that of our special knowledge, for the encouragement of settling a plantation, by and with the consent of our Council—have given, and by these presents do give and grant in equal shares, unto our beloved subjects, whose names are entered in a schedule, that inhabit or shall inhabit within the said grant, all that tract of land within the following bounds: Beginning at the head of the town of Chichester, and to run Northwest by the town of Gilmanton to the Winnipiscogee Pond; then from the first mentioned place, south west seven miles on the head of the aforesaid Chichester; thence Northwest to the river that comes out of the great Pond aforesaid; then by the river to the second-mentioned bound. That the same be a town corporate by the name of Canterbury. To have and to hold the said land forever, upon the following conditions: First. That the Proprietors, within three years, build seventy dwelling-houses and settle a family in each, and clear three acres of land fit for planting or sowing. Second. That a meeting-house be built within four years. Third. If any Proprietor neglect, he shall forfeit his share of the land. Fourth. That a share be reserved for the Ministry of the Gospel, another for a Parsonage, and another for the benefit of the schools in town.

Provided, that if war break out with the Indians within three years, then three years shall be allowed them after the war, rendering therefore to us or our officers the Annual Rent of one pint of corn in the said town on the first Thursday in March yearly forever, reserving also all mast trees growing on said land, according to the Act of Parliament in that case made and provided. For the calling of the first meeting, we do appoint Paul Gerrish, Paul Wentworth and John Smith, Selectmen of said town, and that they continue in said office until the third of Thursday of March, 1728, when others shall be chosen in their stead. In testimony whereof, we have caused the seal of our Province to be affixed.

"Witness John Wentworth, Lieut. Governor.

"Given the twentieth day of May, in the fourth year of our reign, Anno Domini 1728.

"By order of his Honor Lieut. Governor.

"Richard Waldron, Clerk of Council."

THE TOWN INCORPORATED IN 1773.

The following is a copy of an act to set off part of the town of Canterbury into a distant parish by the name of Loudon, as passed in the House of Representatives, January 22, 1773:

"Whereas, a number of the inhabitants of Canterbury, in the County of Rockingham in this Province, have petitioned the General Assembly to be set off and erected into a distinct Parish agreeable to a vote of said town set forth in said petition, and after due notice thereof being given, no person hath appeared to oppose the same, and the same appearing for the public good. Therefore, be it enacted by the Governor, Council and Assembly, that all that part of the town of Canterbury, beginning at the northeast corner thereof, at the Buckhorn Beech-tree; thence southwest on the head line of Chichester eight miles to the line between Canterbury and Bow; thence on the line between said Canterbury and Bow, five miles; thence across said Canterbury, northeast eight miles, to Gilmanton line; and by that to the bounds first mentioned, be and is hereby set off from said town of Canterbury, and erected into and established to be a distinct and separate parish by the name of Loudon, and that the Inhabitants thereof be invested with all powers and privileges by law invested in any Parish within this Province, and are fully exempt from paying further tax to the town of Canterbury.

"And Nathan Bachelder of said Parish, is hereby Authorized and empowered to call the first meeting of said Parish of Loudon for the choice of Parish Officers, by setting up a notification thereof in some public place in said Parish fourteen days beforehand, and to govern said meeting until a Moderator be chosen, and then they are to proceed to the choice of officers as the law directs.

"Province of New Hampshire: In the House of Representatives, January 22nd, 1773.—This Bill having been read three times, Voted, That it pass to be enacted.

"J. Wentworth, Speaker.

"In Council, January 22nd, 1773.—This bill was read a third time and passed to be enacted.

"Theodore Atkinson, Secretary.

"Consented,

"J. Wentworth.

"Copy examined by

"George King, Depy. Secretary."

FIRST MEETING.

The first meeting of inhabitants of the parish of Loudon was called and held at the house of Abraham Bachelder, Jr., on the 23d day of March, 1773, by a warrant under the hand and seal of Nathan Bachelder. The business to be transacted was as follows:

"1st. To choose a Moderator for said Meeting.

"2nd. To choose a Parish Clerk, Selectmen, Constable and all other Parish officers as the law directs for the ensuing year.

"3rd. To see if the said Freeholders and Inhabitants will agree upon and vote to raise a sum of money this present year for the benefit of the Gospel in said Parish.

"4th. To see if said Freeholders and Inhabitants will vote to raise a sum of money for schooling the present year in said Parish.

"5th. To see if the said Freeholders and Inhabitants will vote that the charges in getting the said Parish of Loudon set off from Canterbury shall be collected by a rate, according to the Polls and Estates in said Parish.

"6th. To see if the said Freeholders and Inhabitants will vote the sum of thirty-two dollars, which his Excellency John Wentworth was pleased to give in when signing the charter of the Parish of Loudon, the same having been worked out on some highway in said Parish.

"7th. To agree upon and see how much money shall be raised this present year for highways in said Parish.

"8th. To see if the Freeholders and Inhabitants will agree upon and vote to fall Twenty acres of trees on the Parsonage lot this present year in said Parish.

"9th. To see if the Freeholders and Inhabitants will agree upon and vote to build two school-houses the present year.

"10th. To see if the Freeholders and Inhabitants will agree upon and choose one set day to hold the Annual Meeting in said Parish, and to transact any other matter or thing that may be thought advisable for the interest of said Parish."

The proceedings were as follows:

"Chose Mr. Jethro Bachelder, Moderator for said meeting.

"Chose Nathan Bachelder, Parish Clerk.

"Chose Jethro Bachelder, Moses Holman and Jacob Towle, Selectmen.

"Chose Moses Ordway, Constable.

"Chose Abraham Bachelder, Gershom Mathes, Lt. Benjamin Sais, Jethro Bachelder, Surveyor of Highways.

"Chose Samuel French and Dudley Sweasy as Tything men.

CHURCHES.

Provisions were made for building a meetinghouse in town the same year the town was incorporated.

At a meeting of the parish in 1773, it was voted to build a meeting house on the southeast end of the school lot. In 1777 it was voted to set up a meeting house by a rate or tax and also voted "to get the timber and haul it to the spot this winter, and that labor be three shillings per day. The building committee were Eliphalet Rawlings, Abraham Bachelder, Nathaniel Bachelder, Ezekiel Morrill, Jethro Bachelder, Moses Ordway and Jona. Clough. Another record seems to us of rather strange tenor at this day as follows: "Voted to buy two barrells of rum for the raising." It was several years from the date of the matter being first agitated before the house was erected and fully completed. It continued for a long time to be the meeting place of the people of the town for all purposes whether municipal or religious in their nature. There was complete union of state and church in the minds of the citizens of these towns in those early days and the accepted faith of all the people was Congregationalism.

Several efforts were made to settle a minister in town but Mr. J. Tucker was a man finally established here and he remained for about thirty years where he not only preached but served as physician and surgeon without charge to the people within the town limits. Mr. Tucker was a very loveable and efficient pastor and was also much concerned in the civil affairs of the town, serving for two years as chairman of the board of selectmen.

Other pastors have been the following with approximate dates of coming and departure: Rev. Enoch Courser, 1816-37; Cyrus W. Wallace, 1840; Parker Pillsbury, Jno. LeBosquet, Ezekiel Dow, Jona. Ayers, E. F. Abbott, Jairus Ordway, Mr. Caswell, and the venerable Mr. Courser for one year.

Pastors of the Congregational Church were as follows:

1885-88, Rev. Joseph Faucet; 1888-89, Vacant; 1890-92, Rev. Charles E. Sumner; 1893-94, Rev. Joseph O. Tasker; 1894-95, Vacant; 1896-97, Rev. Andrew Gibson; 1898-99, Rev, Thos. W. Howard; 1900, Vacant; 1901, Rev. Hugh F. Graham, 1902-06, Vacant; 1906, Rev. D. E. Miller.

FREE BAPTISTS.

This church had its birth in the discussions about the town tax for the support of Mr. Tucker and the persons who organized it in 1807 were John Sanborn, Jonathan Clough, Abner Clough, and Nath. Martin. This society was permitted to use the old church one-fourth of the time. By 1823 they were allowed the house one-half of the time and the Congregationalists made great effort to erect a new edifice as we have seen. Rev. Samuel B. Dyer was the pastor of the Free Baptists for many years.

The unsettled condition continued till 1847 when the Free Baptists gained control of the old church by altering the upper story so that services could be held there. They expended about $1,000 for this purpose. Rev. Jno. Norris was called as their pastor. Rev. Wm. A. Sargent followed. Other pastors were E. G. Knowles, J. P. Stinchfield, S. S. Brooks, John George, Carter E. Cates, Chas. E. Hurd, D. I. Quint.

SECOND CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

At the village began through the various divisions arising over the Rev. Mr. Tucker affair, Rev. Mr. Courser's attitude and the rise of the Free Baptists. They had up to 1885 but two ordained pastors, Rev. Henry White and Rev. Thos. N. Jones. But they have supplies as follows: Calvin White, Henry Wood, Charles Willey and C. Roper under whose charge the church was repaired.

METHODISTS.

For many years the Methodists have had a church at this place. During the early years of its existence, Rev. Silas Green was pastor of this church and the Congregationalist as well, but since his connection with this church expired there have been only Methodist preachers in charge.

MILITARY ACCOUNT.

The Revolution made itself felt in this town as is evidenced by the records of the town meeting of 1777. That year we learn that the following officers were chosen: A. Bachelder, moderator; J. Clough, clerk; Nathan Bachelder, Esq., Abraham Bachelder and John Hoit, selectmen; Nathan Bachelder, constable; and Wm. Boynton, tythingman.

"The following order was received for men.

To Mr. Clough, Constable:

Sir:—This day received orders from Col. Stickney to awarn a parish meeting to call upon the train Board and alarm List to raise eleven able bodied, effective men, the same to be engaged three years or during the war. This is to warn you to immediately warn the train Board and alarm List to meet at the house of Joseph Tilton, in Loudon, on Thursday, the seventh instant, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to consult the best way in order to raise the aforesaid eleven men.

Nathan Bachelder,
John Drew, Selectmen.

March 24, 1777.

The parish voted to accept the two men that Nathan Bachelder and Captain Sais hired at Epsom.

"Voted to pay the expense they were at in hireing said Soldiers.

"Chose the Selectmen, Capt. Benjamin Sias, and Lieut. Jno. Sanborn, as a committee to raise the men.

"Voted to pay all the cost the committee may be at in raising said Soldiers.

"Voted Five pounds per month, with State Wages, for a certain number of men that started out for Ticonderoga.

"Voted fifteen dollars per month for the men that went to Saratogo.

"Voted that those who went to Bennington be brought into a rate.

"Voted to give each man that went to Bennington last year forty dollars, with paying back the money they have received.

"Voted that William Chamberlin's and Henry Tebbett's rate for 1777 be taken off for their going to Cambridge.

"Voted not to give Ezra Blaisdell the money he lost when he was taken prisoner at Bennington.

"Voted to give the Volunteers that go to Rhode Island, if they should not receive enough from the State, sufficient to make them whole, both in horse-flesh and other ways."

REVOLUTIONARY SOLDIERS FROM LOUDON.

David Greely, Lieut. Samuel Chamberlin, Eliphalet Rawlings, Dudley Sweasey, William Chamberlin, Abial Chamberlin, Moses Morrill, Ensign Ezekiel Morrill, George Barns, Joseph Tilton, Ensign Bachelder, Libby Bachelder, Jere. Abbott Blunt, Capt. Benj. Sias, Thomas Drake, John Sanborn, Caleb Pillsbury, Jacob Sherburne, Thomas Haines, Thomas Bachelder, Henry Tebbetts, John Davis, William Boyington, Isaac Morrill, Moses Ordway, Timothy French, Ezra Blaisdell, John Hoit, Phineas Bachelder, Richard Bachelder, Nathaniel Bachelder, Jonathan Clough.

Several others furnished substitutes as they were liable to be called out as soldiers.

History of Deerfield

The tract of land now known as Deerfield was, for many years a part of Nottingham, being included in the charter given in 1722. Many of the early settlers came from what is now Massachusetts, the first settlements being made at Dover, Portsmouth and Exeter. The Indians in this section were quite troublesome to the new settlers and they built a block house in 1740, near where the Misses Elisabeth and Laura Marston now reside, as a place of safety to which they could flee in case of danger from attack by the savages.

The inhabitants of Deerfield in these years suffered much from fear and frequently fled with much precipitation to this block house, not a few for a considerable time entirely deserting their homes and subjecting themselves to privations, that they might be near some refuge. Yet the savages took no lives nor made any serious incursions into their boundaries. The Misses Marston have had a large boulder placed where the block house was built, to mark the spot, that future generations may know where the early settlers gathered for protection and safety.

The centers of what are now Deerfield and Nottingham were nearly ten miles apart. As early as 1750, complaints arose of neglect from this part of Nottingham in respect to educational and religious advantages. The town voted at its annual meeting in 1750 to set off what is now Deerfield as a new parish, but this served only to quiet the discontent for a season. For the next 15 years efforts were continually being made for a separation from Nottingham, all of which failed until June 17, 1765, when a petition signed by 80 of the citizens was presented "To his Excellency Governor Benning Wentworth and the General Assembly." Nov. 22, 1765. The House of Representatives voted that the prayer of said petitioners be granted and that they have liberty to bring in a bill accordingly. The act of incorporation bears the date of Jan. 8, 1766. While the petition was pending, as tradition has it, Mr. Batchelder killed a large fat deer, and presented it to Governor Wentworth, with which His Excellency was highly pleased, and was thereby disposed to favor the act of incorporation, and suggested the name of "Deerfield" as that by which this township should be known. The first legal meeting was at the house of Samuel Leavitt, Jan. 30, 1766. At this meeting Wadleigh Cram was chosen moderator, Thomas Simpson, parish clerk; Samuel Leavitt, John Robinson and Ediphalet Griffin were chosen selectmen.

After five years of contention in regard to locating a meeting house, it was finally decided to erect it on "Chase's Hill," so called. May 19, 1772, it was voted "to raise £30 lawful money to be laid out intirely for preaching" and John Pearson and James Page were to look out some suitable person to supply the parish with preaching. Rev. Timothy Upham, the first minister was ordained the second Wednesday in December, 1772. Mr. Upham died Feb. 21, 1811, after serving as pastor 39 years. Mr. Upham's successor was Rev. Nathaniel Wells, who was ordained July 1, 1812, and continued his labors as pastor 29 years. His death occurred Dec. 31, 1858, at the advanced age of 85 years. Mr. Wells was succeeded by the Revs. E. N. Hidden, W. A. Patten, U. W. Condit, W. A. Forbes, E. F. Abbott, W. A. Patten, 2nd term, Lyman White, J. W. Kingsbury, S. A. Mansfield, O. M. Lord, T. C. H. Bouten, J. C. Emerson, Samuel Bell and G. F. Bradford, who resigned July, 1904. This church has had sixteen pastors and many supplies when without a pastor.

During Mr. Wells' pastorate the Congregational people erected a new and commodious church at the new Center. The old church situated on "Chase's Hill" was taken down in the early forties. The Baptist Church was organized in 1770 with 14 members, and disbanded June 29, 1787. Soon after a branch church was organized as part of the Brentwood Church, under the care of Rev. Mr. Shepard. It became independent about 1801, but when it became extinct does not appear.

Sept. 12, 1816, a church was founded to be known as the First Baptist Church in Deerfield. In 1825 the Rev. James Barnaby became pastor, followed by Revs. Isaac Merriam, Bela Wilcox, Isaac Sawyer, O. O. Stearns, Noah Hooper, Jr., James N. Chase and Luther C. Stevens. After an absence of more than thirty years the Rev. James Barnaby returned to become pastor for a second term, remaining as such until April 21, 1861. May 6, 1862, he was followed by the Rev. E. T. Lyford, who resigned his pastoral relations September, 1863, to become chaplain of the 11th Reg't, N. H. V. Rev. Oliver Ayer was settled Dec. 30, 1864, dismissed April 1, 1866. Sept. 29, 1867, the Rev. H. O. Walker became pastor and continued as such until October, 1886. He was followed by the Rev. R. E. Bartlett, who resigned March 31, 1888, and was followed by the Rev. J. N. Studley in October, 1893. He resigned June 2, 1897. He afterwards went West, where he died a few years since. July 24, 1898, the Rev. Thomas Adams became pastor and after two years' service he resigned as such to be followed by the Rev. W. G. Carey, July 6, 1902, who on account of ill health resigned March 20, 1904 and removed to Shutesbury, Mass., where he died soon after. He was followed by the Rev. E. A. Lincoln, Sept. 1, 1904, who on Aug. 17, 1905 suddenly departed from town and has never been known to have returned, although he left a wife and two small children behind. The pulpit was declared vacant Sept. 24, 1905. April 1, 1906, the church succeeded in securing a pastor from Connecticut, in the person of Rev. George W. Shepard, who after a pastorate of sixteen months resigned July 31, 1907 and moved to Suffield, Conn. On July 1, 1908, the Rev. Henry Young Vinal of South Hampton, N. H., accepted a call to become pastor of this church and with his family moved to this town. It will be seen that this church since Jan. 1, 1825, has had nineteen pastors. When without one, supplies have been furnished by the committee in charge.

In 1834, the Baptist people erected a new meeting house, which was soon after dedicated with the Rev. James Barnaby as first pastor. In 1889, the society voted to remove the meeting house onto their parsonage lot opposite the town hall, under the superintendence of the Rev. Rice R. Whittier, assisted by others. It was remodeled and beautified at an expense of nearly $3,000. The first house of worship occupied by the Baptists was built in 1770, two and one-half miles south of the Center near the Hon. John D. Philbrick's cemetery. In 1822, it was removed to the Center and occupied in connection with the Free Baptists and was called the Union Meeting House. This house was burned in 1840; a new one was built in its place in 1841; this one was also burned in 1880, and another new one built in 1881-82. Among those who have labored as pastors of this church are the Revs. John Kimball, S. B. Dyer, I. S. Davis, G. D. Garland, P. S. Burbank, C. S. Smith, Aaron Ayer, Ezra Tuttle (twice), G. S. Hill, Ira Emery, Edwin Blake, N. C. Lothrop, Pitts, Givens, Church, Cook and Nelson, who resigned in 1900, making at least 17 different clergymen who have been pastors of this church.

MILITARY MATTERS.

In all the wars that this country his been engaged in, this town has always shown its patriotism by furnishing its full quota of men and raising its share of the necessary funds with which to prosecute the wars. In the Revolutionary War this town furnished seventy-four soldiers, twenty-one of whom fought at the battle of Bunker Hill. Maj. John Simpson of this town fired the first gun in that memorable battle in the spring of 1776. The following statement was signed by people of Deerfield as follows:

"We, the subscribers do hereby solemnly engage and promise that we will, to the utmost of our power, at the risk of our lives and fortunes and with arms oppose the hostile proceedings of the British Fleets and Armies against the United American Colonies.

G. A. R. MEMORIAL DAY

The town raises and appropriates annually the sum of $50 to assist the G. A. R. to appropriately observe Memorial Day. The day is observed by the veterans and citizens by public exercises in the Town Hall, after having visited the different cemeteries accompanied by a drum corp, where 130 flags are placed on the graves of deceased soldiers of the various wars. The exercises consist of music, a memorial address by some distinguished speaker and singing by a select quartet.

CIVIL WAR.

In the Civil War this town furnished nearly or quite 180 men, many of whom died in hospitals or on the battlefield. Of that number who left home and friends at the calls of President Lincoln, only about twenty are still living in Deerfield today.

PROFESSIONAL MEN.

LAWYERS.

David French of Epping commenced the practice of law in Deerfield in 1796, became solicitor in 1808, attorney general in 1812, died, Oct. 16, 1840. Edmund Toppan commenced practice in 1799, in a few years removed to Hampton. Phineas Howe commenced practice in 1805, after a short time removed to Weare. Moody Kent begun practice in Deerfield in 1804, afterwards removed to Concord and then to Pembroke. Josiah Butler commenced practice at Pelham, afterwards removed to Deerfield and was appointed judge of Court of Common Pleas in 1824. He retained the office until 1833; prior to this he had been sheriff, clerk of Court of Common Pleas and a member of Congress from 1817 to 1823. Afterwards he was appointed postmaster at South Deerfield. He died Oct. 29, 1854. Jesse Merrill commenced practice in Deerfield in 1810 and later removed to Vermont. Nathaniel Hoar of Lincoln, Mass., commenced practice in Portsmouth, N. H., removed to Deerfield, died at Lincoln, Mass., in 1820, aged 36 years. David Steel, Jr., native of Peterborough, commenced practice in Deerfield in 1848, removed to Goffstown, where he became Representative and Senator. Frederick Davis, a native of Boston, commenced practice in 1815 at Salem, N. H., then removed to Deerfield. Josiah Houghton began practice in 1819 and died 183—. Ira St Clair was born in New Hampton, Aug. 9, 1796, commenced practice there in 1824, removed to this town in 1825, where he practiced law until 1874. He was judge of Probate for many years and died April 5, 1875. Nathaniel Dearborn, a native of Chester began practice in Pembroke in 1806, removed to this town in 1822 and to Northwood in 1831 and died in 1860. Horatio Gates Cilley graduated at Dartmouth in 1826, read law with George Sullivan and began practice in Deerfield in 1830. He died several years since.

In addition to the above, Francis D. Randall of Deerfield was Register of Deeds from 1834 to 1840. Richard Jenness was judge of Court of Common pleas from 1809 to 1813. Benjamin Jenness, son of Richard, was sheriff for several years. Peter Chadwick was clerk of Common Pleas from 1817 to 1834. Peter Sanborn was State Treasurer from 1855 to 1871. Gen.

Benjamin Butler, a soldier in the Revolution, afterwards Adjutant-General in New Hampshire, who died May 12, 1828, aged 68, kept a public house in "ye olden times," where judge Ira St Clair died.

PHYSICIANS.

The first physician of Deerfield worthy of note was Dr. Edmund Chadwick. He came to Deerfield in 1779 and practiced his profession. He was considered a very skillful physician, was chosen in 1782 as a delegate to join in convention to frame and organize a permanent system of government. In 1788, he was chosen a delegate to Exeter, and was also a Representative to the General Court at Concord. He died Nov. 8, 1826, aged 75 years.

Thomas Brown practiced first at Epping, then at the Parade. He died in Manchester of cholera. Dr. Stephen Brown succeeded Thomas in 1831, and continued to practice until enfeebled by sickness, he was compelled to give up the practice and died in April, 1874. He was succeeded by Dr. George H. Towle, who has occupied the field for nearly 40 years. Several other physicians during the time have practiced for short periods in Deerfield, viz.: Fogg, Graves, Thresher, Hidden, Young, Haynes, Gale, Newell and others.

PROMINENT MEN.

This town has furnished many prominent men to go forth into the different callings of life. It was the birthplace of Gen. B. F. Butler, who was a noted general in the Civil War, and was a member of Congress from Massachusetts, also once Governor of the State. Hon. John D. Philbrick, for several years was superintendent of the public schools of Boston. He, in connection with Hon. Fred James of New York presented the Philbrick-James library, containing many volumes, to the town. Many volumes have since been added by various individuals, until now it contains a large assortment of books and magazines. It is now in charge of Carrol E. Legro, the efficient librarian, who has served as such for the past few years. Mr. Philbrick also gave a fund to the town of about $4,000, three-fourths of the income to be used for the support of the library, and one-fourth for the support of the school in his native district, Number One.

Hon. Fred P. James of New York, a native of this town, gave a fine school building to his native district, Number Six, in this town. This town has furnished the State Legislature at different times with several Senators, including Judge Richard Jenness, Hon. Joseph J. Dearborn, Richard Jenness, 2nd, Dr. George H. Towle, G. F. Miller, James G. Fellows, J. B. Tennant, who were natives of this town. To Governor G. W. Weston's Council in 1874, Hon. John S. Robinson was elected. He died in November, 1907, aged 86 years. Hon. J. B. Tennant was a member of the Council of a former Governor and County Commissioner several years in Merrimack County and Representative to the Legislature, as has Hon. J. G. Fellows, who is now a member of Governor Quinby's Council, and a former County Commissioner. Hon. John Jenness, a native of this town (but a long resident of Boston) was a State Senator here in 1849 and 1850. He accumulated a large property including one of the finest farms in town now owned and occupied by the Hon. John J. Cilley. At the time of his death in 1872, he gave $5,000 to the town, the interest to be expended for school purposes. Several eminent ministers were born here, who have gone forth to labor in their high calling. Among them are the names of Jeremiah Tilton and his brother, Holden, Rice R. Whittier, Elbridge Goodhue, Freeman P. Lang, Enoch P. Ladd, Samuel Goodhue, Leroy Griffin—but a few of these are living at the present time.

Nathaniel Weare, son of President Weare, was town clerk here for thirty-one years. G. M. Weare, who died Nov. 6, 1908, aged 87 years, a life-long resident of this town was his grandson.

SECRET SOCIETIES.

Union Lodge, No. 32, I. O. O. F.; Silver Lake Lodge, No. 50, D. of R.; J. E. Chadwick Post, No. 70, G. A. R.; J. E. Chadwick, W. R. C., No. 70, W. R. C.; Deerfield Grange, No. 74, P. of H.; Progressive Grange, No. 271, P. of H.

In 1897, the members of Union Lodge, No. 32, erected a large and commodious building, suitably proportioned for a store in the lower story, lodge and ante rooms on the second floor and a fine banquet room on the third floor, all at a cost, of rising $3,000, leaving no debt to be paid in the future. This lodge was instituted Nov. 9, 1849. During these years nearly 200 names have been written on its roll book, a large majority of whom have gone out to return no more. On Nov. 9, 1899, the fiftieth anniversary of the institution of the lodge was observed with appropriate cermony, the grand officers being present. At the same time, the new hall was dedicated with impressive services by Grand Master Welch, Grand Secretary Kidder and other brothers, high up in the Order from Manchester. This was the last of many visits which the Grand Secretary had made. For many years previously he had often visited "old Union Lodge.

Silver Lake Rebekah Lodge, No. 50, was instituted Nov. 16, 1892, by the grand officers with 26 charter members. Many names have since been added to its membership. Its meetings are held on the first and third Wednesdays of each month.

The G. A. R. Post, which once had on its roll the names of nearly 40 comrades, has been reduced in numbers by death until now it has but ten members remaining, but unlike other orders it has no field to recruit from. Inevitable dissolution is all that it can look forward to.

History of Northwood

INDIAN ACCOUNT.

The town of Northwood in the exciting times of Indian warfare suffered from the unfriendliness of some of the Indian tribes. Small parties of the enemy concealed themselves on or near her borders, and made great havoc among the cattle, horses, sheep and other domestic animals. So far as known, only one tribe located within the town limits, at the head of that tribe was a chief, called Swansen. He was disposed to be friendly to the settlers, yet did not at all times check the savage nature and deeds of the members of his tribe. As an example of the constant suspicion and watchfulness under which the early settlers lived, the following example is recorded:—

"About the year 1747, one Davis, of Durham, went to Nottingham to remove boards from the mills, having loaded his team consisting of four oxen, he left a boy to drive the team, and went forward for the purpose of making discoveries. He soon saw the prints of huge moccasins in the sand. He was filled with terror, believing that he was ambushed on every hand. He did not lose his presence of mind, but hurried back and unyoked the oxen, and calling for the boy to follow, made all possible speed for home. A company of armed men soon returned to the spot and were surprised to find the cattle browsing, and all unhurt. The tracks in the sand were those of Chief Swansen and one of his men, who had been hunting. They heard the team, but thought a large number of men were with it, and went directly for reinforcements. When the Indians returned to the team they found the oxen feeding and feared it was a stratagem to draw them into an ambush and fled in fear as Davis had done. This account was given after the war by members of the tribe which had been located in Northwood.

EARLY SETTLEMENT AND SETTLERS.

In 1762, four men, Moses Godfrey, John and Increase Batchelder and Moses Bickford, came from the towns of North Hampton and Lee to establish homes in the uninhabited region of what became in a few years, the town of Northwood. These pioneers were brave, rugged and ambitious men, and selected such places as would be best adapted to make homes for themselves and the friends whom they expected soon to follow them, after which they returned to their homes to prepare to occupy their new homes in the following year.

On the 25th day of the following March (1763) Godfrey and the Batchelders returned to occupy the land they had chosen. Theirs was the first frame house built in Northwood.

Solomon Bickford, son of Deacon Asa Bickford, was born June 25, 1764, and was the first child born in the present limits of Northwood. The industrious, sturdy pioneers were soon followed by many noble, ambitious men, who soon realized the advantages to be gained by forming a settlement of their own.

ORGANIZATION OF THE TOWN.

From 1722 until 1773, Northwood formed a part of Deerfield. In 1773, a petition was presented by the inhabitants for an act of incorporation and this was granted February 6th, at the session of the General Court.

Benjamin Johnson was authorized to call the first meeting of the town for the choice of officers and the transaction of other business. A meeting was called for Mar. 23, 1773, at which Benjamin Johnson was chosen moderator; Increase Batchelder, clerk; and Benjamin Hill, Joseph Demerit, and Samuel Johnson, selectmen; Moses Godfrey was chosen constable. The selectmen were instructed to settle with Nottingham, matters growing out of the act of incorporation, while Ansel Blake and Wm. Blake were tithing men; Wm. Wallace and John Harvey, fence viewers; Jonathan Knowlton, Asel Blake, Solomon Bickford and Daniel Hoitt were surveyors of highways; Zeblon Norris and John Harvey were chosen hog reeves; Solomon Bickford, leather sealer.

TOWN TREASURERS.

For many years after Northwood became a town, it was the custom of the selectmen to elect one of their number as treasurer. During 1887, and for several years prior, Henry Knowlton was elected treasurer. From 1888 until the present the office has been filled by Albert H. Moore, town clerk.

SCHOOLS.

The building of schoolhouses early received the attention of the town. In 1792, district schools were established.

Northwood Academy was incorporated in February, 1866. In June, 1875, the charter was so amended that the institution should hereafter be known by the name of "Coe's Northwood Academy," in honor of Ebenezer Coe, Esq., for many years a highly respected merchant and Christian gentleman, whose heart and hand were ready to aid every good cause, and whose son, E. S. Coe, Esq., of Bangor, Me., has sustained the interest begun by his worthy father.

For many years the Academy flourished under the care of Rev. E. C. Cogswell, a graduate of Dartmouth College. Many have gone from Coe's Northwood Academy to seek advanced education in various colleges, to lead lives of usefulness elsewhere; but to retain their interest in, and loyalty for their home academy.

Mr. E. K. Welch, a graduate of Bowdoin College, has been principal during the past ten years. Northwood is an ideal location for the earnest student, and we trust the work done in the Academy will prove an influence for good in coming years.

ADVENTS.

The Second Advent Christian Church at Northwood Narrows was formally organized on Sept. 14, 1881, under the leadership of Elder John Parsons, who was chosen as its first pastor and continued in that office for nine years. Jeremiah J. Bartlett and William D. Watson were chosen as deacons and have continued to hold that office until the present time.

Other ministers who have served as pastors are C. W.

Dockham and L. D. Buro. For the few months last past, Elder Wells Hadley has acted as temporary supply. When there has been no regular pastor there has been an effort made to have some minister to preach on every Lord's day, if possible. When no minister could be had social meetings have been held.

SUPPLEMENTARY LIST OF TOWN OFFICERS.

PART II

Census-1909

The population of the towns of Epsom, Canterbury, Loudon, South Deerfield, Northwood and Chichester, has been arranged in families where it has been possible. In addition to the resident living members, the names of the non-resident members are included. It should be borne in mind that this plan does not include the names of all former residents of this town, as the names of the non-residents appear only when one or both of the parents are still living in the town. After the name of each non-resident will be found the present address, when such address has been given to us. Non-residents are indicated by the (*).

When a daughter in a family has married, her name taken in marriage appears after her given name in parenthesis, the name preceded by a small m, thus: (m).

Following the names of the population is the occupations. To designate these we have used the more common abbreviations and contractions, as follows: Farmer—far; carpenter—car; railroad service—R R ser; student, a member of an advanced institution of learning—stu; pupil, a member of a lower grade of schools (including all who have reached the age of five years)—pl; housework—ho; laborer—lab; physician and surgeon—phy & sur; clergyman—clerg; merchant—mer; teacher—tr; blacksmith—blk; clerk—cl; bookkeeper—bk kpr; lawyer—law; mechanic mech; machinist—mach; engineer—eng; maker—mkr; worker—wkr; work—wk; shoe shop operative— s s op; cotton or woolen mill operatives —mill op; weaver—weav; spinner—spin; electrician—elec; painter—ptr; carriage work—car wk; dress maker—dr mkr; insurance—ins; traveling salesman, or commercial traveler—sales, or coml trav; music teacher—mus tr; teamster—team; general work—genl wk; mariner—mar; employ—emp; retired —retd; telephone operative—tel op; telegraph operative—teleg op.

Census of Epsom

Note—Where no P. O. address is given, Epsom is understood. Other Postoffices are abbreviated as follows—Gossville—Goss; Short Falls—Falls; Suncook R. F. D. No. 1—Suncook 1; Gossville R. F D. No. 1—Goss 1; Pittsfield—Pitts; Pittsfield R. F. D. No. 1—Pitts 1; Concord—Cone.
